ACCESSING THE CITY

Control devices and crossing practices in Venice

International workshop luav e Unîmes

Venice is becoming a laboratory for regulating urban space through reservation systems, digital controls, and monitoring infrastructures. The workshop explores how residents, students, workers, and visitors experience these systems through field and digital ethnography. Focusing on frictions, adaptations, and narratives of control and access, participants will develop scenarios and design proposals to imagine more inclusive and conscious ways of inhabiting the city.
